Situation

The Rise School is the UK's first free school specifically for children with autism. They chose TT Education to provide support with their need to establish consistency and good practice in assessing, feedback, analysis and lesson planning.

A focus on assessment and analysis

The Rise School has been working with TT Education for over a year. The customised solution from TT Education was completely bespoke; very closely tailored to the needs of the school.

"During this period, TT Education have helped us completely overhaul our assessment and analysis approaches, enabling us to work without national curriculum levels.

They have been very supportive of Rise School colleagues, both through training and further support, to ensure our improvements in use of data are both sustainable and effective.

The staff and leadership team at The Rise school are so grateful for TT Education's experience and flexibility in supporting our school - including helping us move to a new building!"

"Dramatic improvements"

The Rise School has seen dramatic improvements in teaching and learning thanks to the path to success strategies in English and Maths. Pupil progress and attainment data is reflecting the positive impact of TT Education's path to success strategies.

The Rise school are happy to recommend TT Education support to other schools and academies.
